

Diane Barrett is the president of NextGard Technology and a professor for Bloomsburg University. She has done forensic, incident response, and security assessment work for many years holding titles such as Manager of research and training for cyber, mobile forensic training director, and enterprise engineer. She has authored multiple security and forensic books. She has served as a program director for ADFSL's Conference on Digital Forensics, Security, and Law and is a volunteer on the National CyberWatch Center's Curriculum Standards Panel for Information Security Fundamentals as well as NIST's Cloud Computing Forensic Science Working Group. Diane holds many industry certifications, including CISSP, ISSMP, DFCEP, and PCME, along with several from CompTIA, including Security+ and Cybersecurity Analyst. Diane's education includes a Ph.D. in business administration with a specialization in information security, where her dissertation was on the application of current forensics investigative methods to cloud computing environments.