

Joseph Juchniewicz

Joseph Juchniewicz is the Principal Senior Consultant for Computex, who has over 28 years of security experience. Mr. Juchniewicz provides high-level consulting services to customers primarily in the area of information security, including the design and implementation of security solutions, conducting security assessments, as well as assisting with the alignment of operational procedures with information security best practices for multiple "Fortune 100" companies, including Department of Defense, the Department of Interior, and the Department of Homeland Security. He is extensively skilled in vulnerability and penetration testing, social engineering, physical security assessments, investigations, incident response, and computer forensics.

Mr. Juchniewicz serves on several security college Advisory Committee member for Collin College for their IT security programs. Mr. Juchniewicz serves on multiple positions on the EC-Council advisory committee boards for Ethical Hacking, Penetration Testing, and Forensics developing training, testing, and creating course material for their education programs.